You know it's there

No yearbook can capture every memory, but it can jog one's thoughts of times shared with friends. High school brings many trials and tribulations; but in the long run, the good times come to mind when reflecting on high school days.

Kids and teachers involve themselves in numerous activities. Sometimes, it is frightening when we get caught in the rush of deadlines and competition; and we start to wonder how we will pull ourselves through. However, once Huckleberry Finn is read, the last mile is run, the final opponent is pinned, the float is built, and a long-standing friendship is developed, we realize that we are better persons.

The accusation that School Spirit is a thing of the past is no longer true at Lebanon High School. The Tiger Pride made us proud by taking top honors in fall contests. Coach Steve Psikula's varsity football team was charged with the new Tiger Spirit and showed us they could match any challenge.

With so many contrasts the scholarly atmosphere at Lebanon High School was sparked with overwhelming enthusiasm. Perhaps the combination of academic, athletic, and activity achievement is the key to School Spirit; when you least expect it, it's always there!

Graduation: The end and a new beginning

The background music of "Pomp and Circumstance" greeted the 1982 graduating class at the threshold of the future. With commencement portraying the final chapter in twelve years of education, an air of accomplishment settled over the crowd. Hearing Principal Vic Combs announce their names, the seniors accepted the challenge of tomorrow and resolved to profit from the past.

The senior procession was led by class president Jeff Gerrard and the Candelabrum Committee. The members of the Candelabrum Committee performed the traditional ceremony of lighting the tapers representing seven worthy traits of an individual. As the candles burned brightly, the Senior Class President, Jeff Gerrard, requested that the Junior Class President, Janelle Walker, come forward. It was the duty of the leader of the graduating class to ask the incoming seniors to perpetuate the simple but meaningful ritual.

A dream is a wish your heart makes

Juniors possessed a special enthusiasm when making preparations for the 1982 prom. They realized the prom was to honor the seniors. "A Dream is a Wish Your Heart Makes," a song from Cinderella, was the theme for the annual event. Juniors decorated the Armory with rainbows, raindrops, clouds, and fairy tale scenes. A crepe paper ceiling added to the dreamy effect.

Many people will remember this special night. Laura Lee was crowned 1982 Prom Queen by the 1981 recipient, Yvonne Iacobelli. Laura received roses, a crown, and a silver tray. The members of the court were Debbie Bean, Jennie Dawson, Terri Hayes, Beth Herr, Jenny Obremskey, and Kerri Randel. Couples danced to the music of Indy Express, featuring Lebanon's own Teresa Giles.

Post prom activities completed the evening entertainment including putt putt golf, a country store, a casino, an obstacle course, and a favorite — the auction. The class of 1983 will always remember the elegance and style of their junior prom.

Kerri Randel beams as the excitement mounts for the crowning.

Jenny Obremskey and Mike Hay dance the night away.

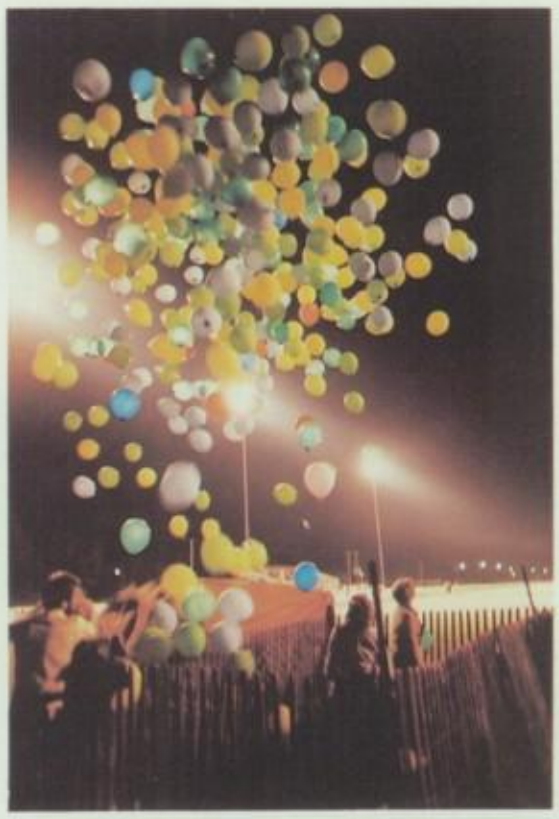
Across: Angie Lamer, Lisa Stoner, and Karla Shelburne are standing on the corner — watching all the boys go by.

Clockwise: The bonfire glows brightly until 9:00 p.m. — school night, you know. Charming David Lakes is congratulated by Kerri Randel after receiving Homelycoming Queen. Sophomore girls listen to the instructions. of their coach, Ken Staton. Quarterback Jenny Obremskey receives the football as Kim Anderson is ready to pounce on Veronica Orosco. Psikula's hula dancers show us their stuff. John Buchanan is solemn as April Young looks on.

Surf's up for the Tigers!

"Surf's up for the Tigers" was the theme for this year's Homecoming. Students sparkled with the new Tiger spirit and dressed up during Homecoming week. Sweat Day started the week off right with most students wearing their sweats and participating in the 13th annual Trike Race. Coach Steve Psikula was a winner again with his trike team, Bud's Bikers, finishing first. The Class of 1983 has won the race all four years of their high school career. Tuesday, Gina Allured from Pepsi Cola presented "The Spirit of Challenge" in two convocations, and students dressed like a friend for "Twin Day." Faculty and students "punked out" on Wednesday; and that night everyone participated in the Sunshine Chili Supper, Powder-puff football game, and bonfire. The senior-freshman team won the Powder-puff game with a score of 21-6. Charming David Lakes was crowned Homelycoming queen. "Go Hawaiian" was Thursady's theme and the senior-faculty softball game was played.

Homecoming day was filled with excitement. After a "fired-up" pep session, students enjoyed the parade. Tiger Pride performed before the game, helium filled balloons signified the start of the 1982 Homecoming game, Debbie Bean was crowned Homecoming queen, and time ran out for the North Montgomery Chargers as the Tigers won, 15-7. Fast Freddy Fever was the disc jockey for a dance that marked vigor and victory on Homecoming, 1982.



Clockwise: Laura Lee and Jim Peek; Beth Herr and Rick Hootman; 1982 Homecoming Queen, Debbie Bean crowned by Janelle Walker, Student Council President; Jennie Dawson and Matt Cero, and Jenny Obremskey and Mike Hay.

THANKS!!!

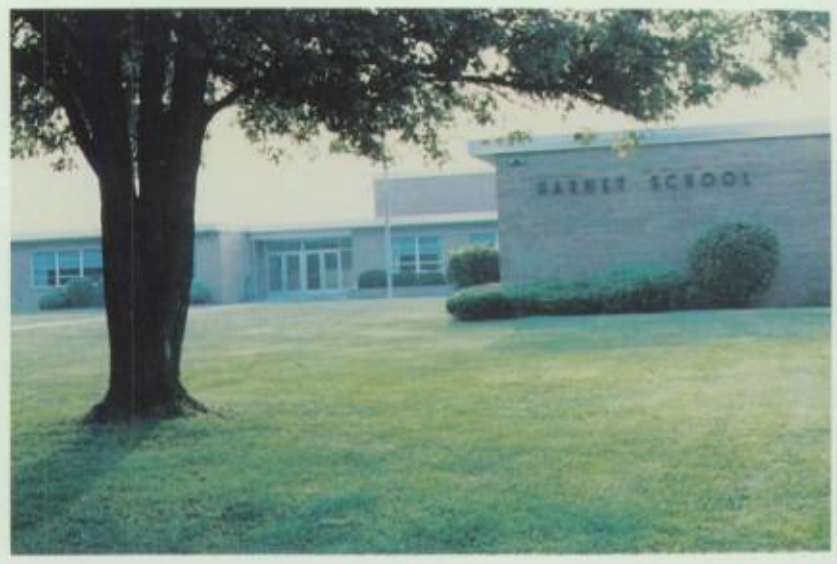
At Lebanon High School there exists a lady who is the answer to every principal's prayer. This lady has taken on the task of overseeing those ever-popular activities such as the candy-coke committee, prom production, Spirit Club, powder-puff football, and many other events that pull together the varied interests and talents of the student body. This lady is our very own Janie Reynolds.

We realize that many of "Janie's" efforts go unnoticed; and we would like to take advantage of an opportunity to pay special tribute to an invaluable staff member. We thank her for all the support she has given every class that passes through Lebanon High. Without her, many activities, which give LHS extra "pizazz," would not exist.

Janie possesses the qualities needed to do her job as effectively as she does. Whether duck hunting with her son, tracking down the Group 2 candy-coke section in "82," passing out jerseys, or answering the one million and one questions fired at her concerning the prom, Janie never fails us and is always there with a word of advice or encouragement.

What we are trying to say, Janie, is that we need you, and there are not enough words to express our gratitude for your effort. To sum it all up — we know you're always there — Thanks, Janie!

Heather, with a look of amazement, wonders if the Prom will be a success.



Can you believe it — twelve years? Twelve long, yet short years. The finalization of our high school education may be a two-hour ceremony; but there is so much more to it than a simple diploma and a handshake.

None of us forgets our elementary alma maters. When thinking about grade school, does it really seem that long ago that you actually wanted homework or even just a textbook to carry home? Has it really been eight or nine years since we drank out of drinking fountains three feet from the floor or got our scrawny knees under those miniature desks? If you were in grade school and you had even a slight acquaintance with a senior, weren't you the envy of all your friends? Do you remember paying five cents for that "cootie" shot that consisted of a tap with a pen, but protection from "him" or "her"? That was long ago, but those memories are worth a million dollars. We are now on the threshhold of a new beginning.

Without student participation in various school activities, going to school would be an extremely bland experience. This year's seniors have infiltrated nearly every part of the school. Each member of the Class of 1983 should be proud to recognize themselves as a part of this special group. This class has done their share in contributing to school support. The 1983 seniors have shown fine examples of leadership, enthusiasm, and concern for their school.

The encouragement and support among the class itself has given this class unique qualities. When thinking back on your high school days years from now, just think of what a success we were; and we did it all together.

This one's for you!!!

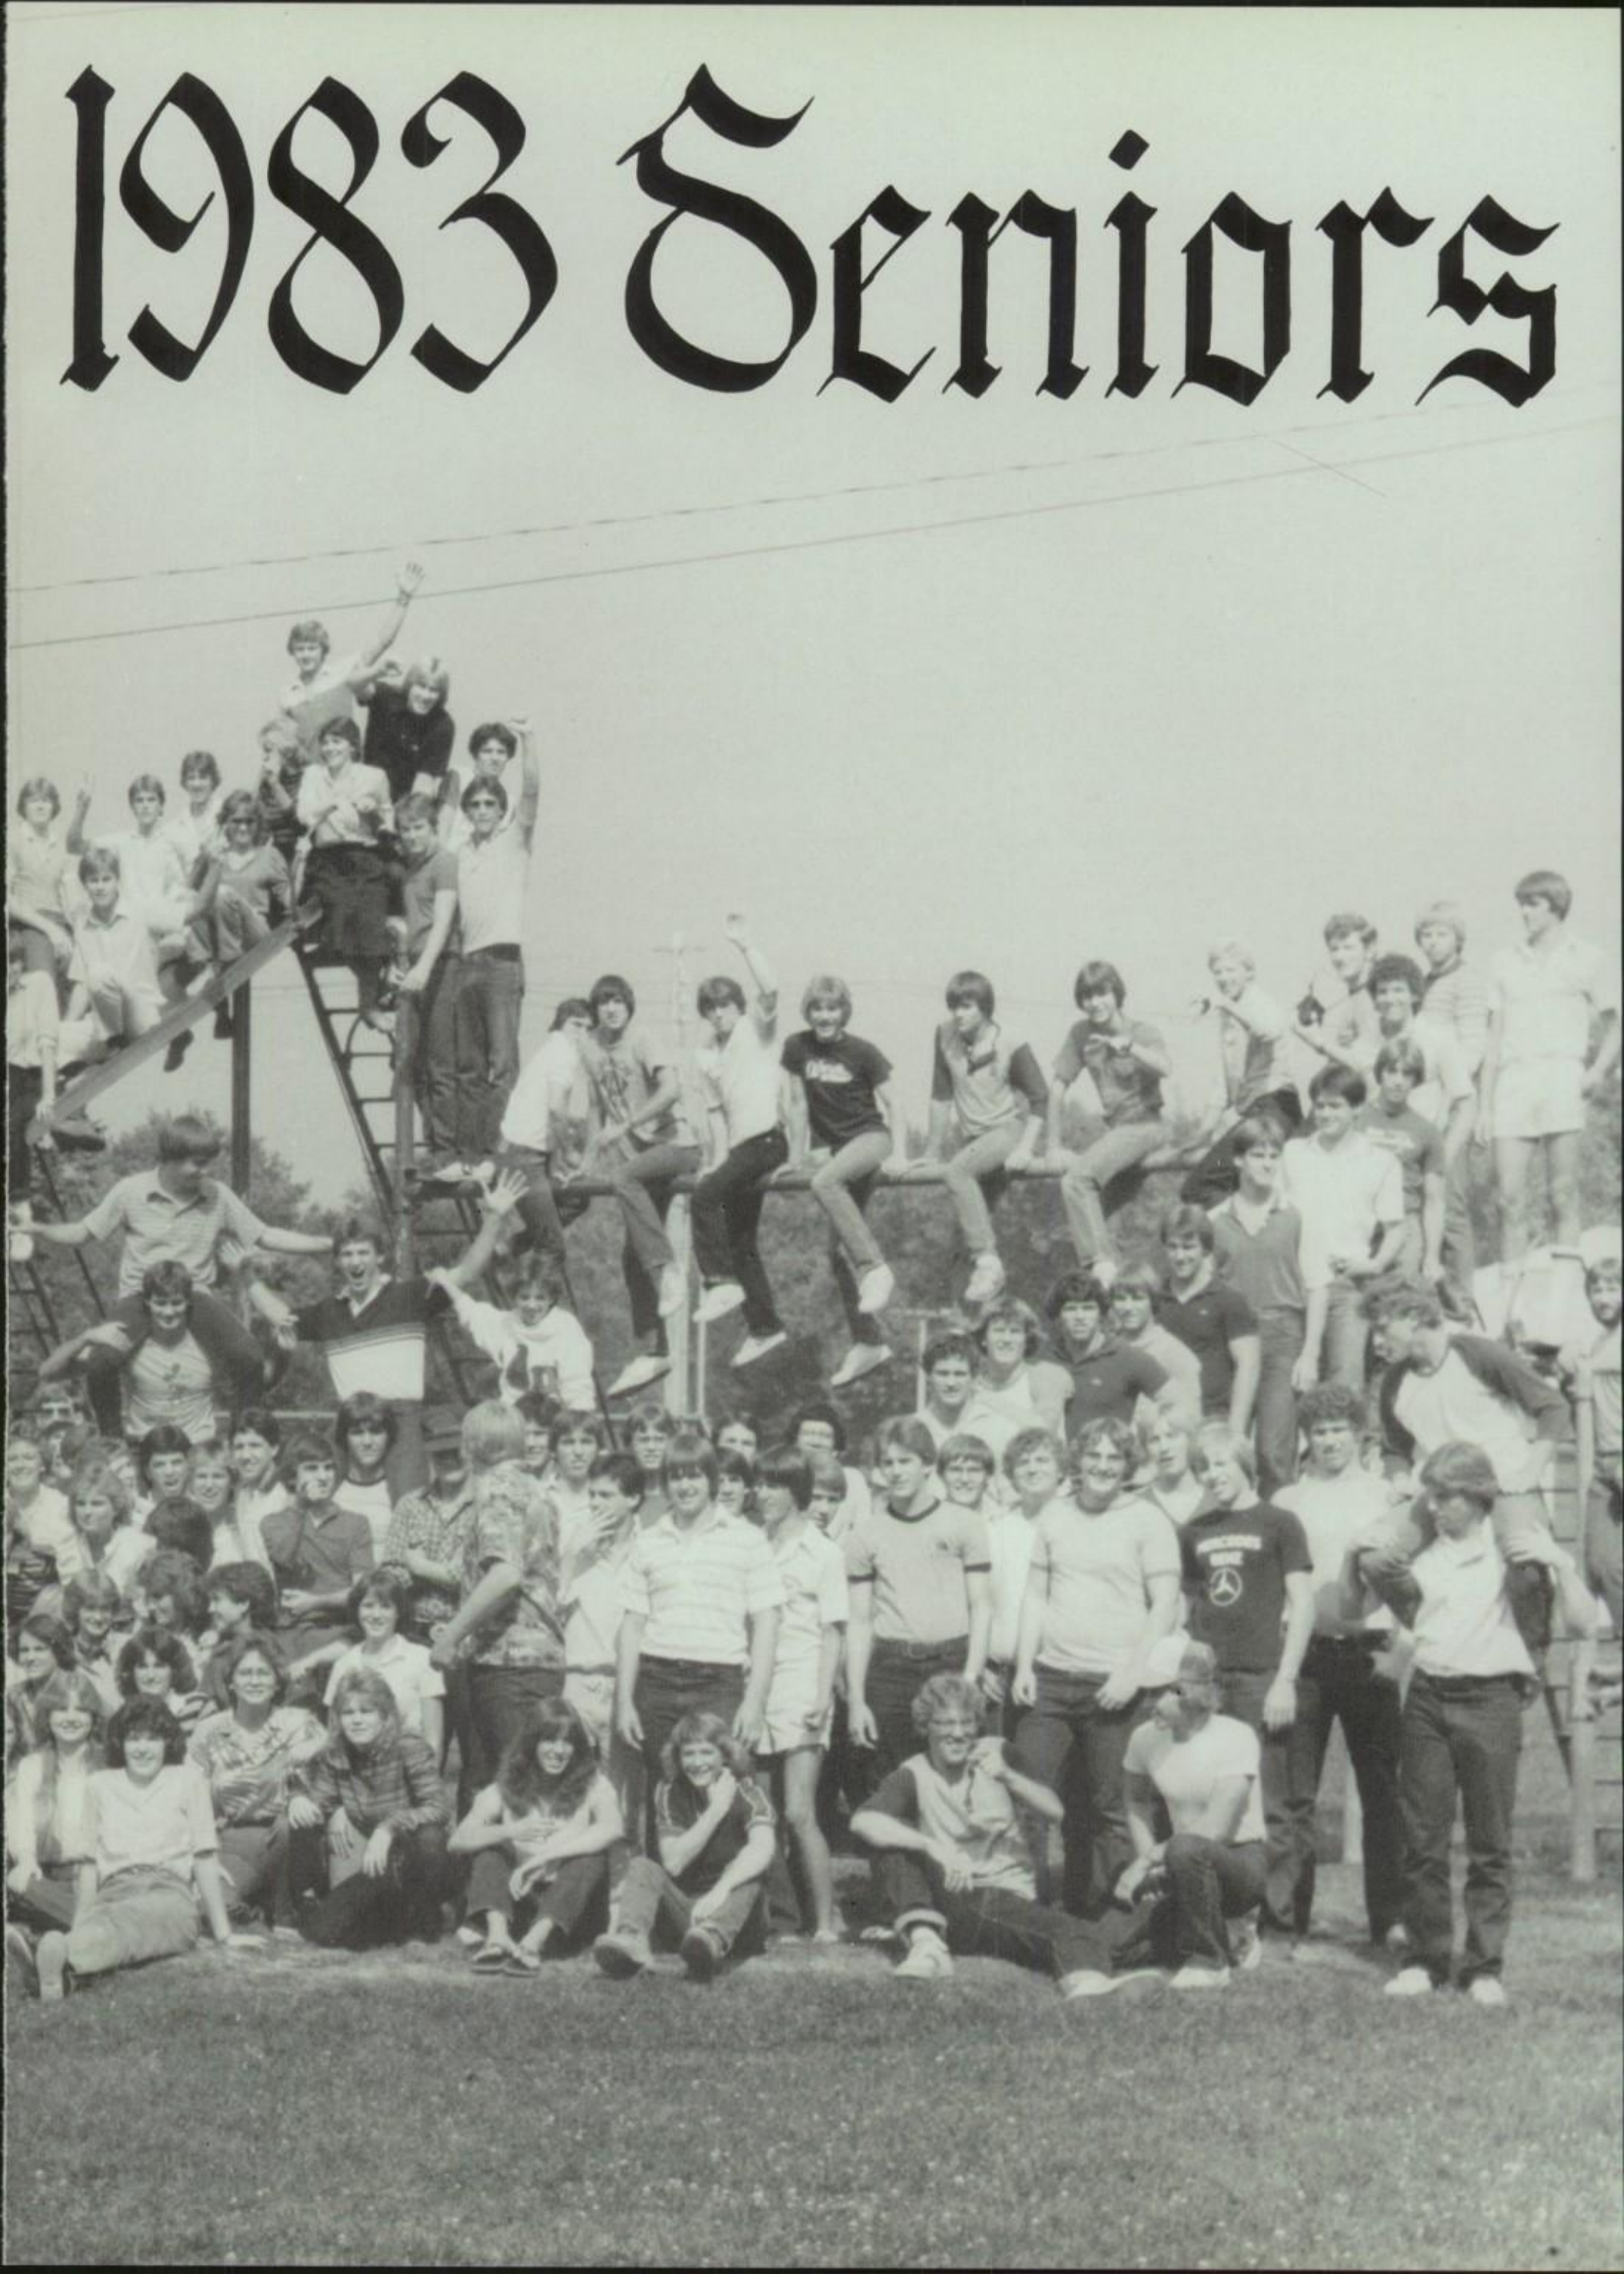
Introducing the

1983 Seniors



Class leaders

While mixed emotions affect a senior class, there remain numerous tasks that demand attention. Senior officers lead the assault on these final duties.

Before the cobwebs are cleared from the LHS corridors and the minds of the students, the senior class officers have already begun their year-long task to insure a memorable year.

This diligent committee consists of President, Todd Meece; Vice-president, Beth Herr; Secretary, Laura Lee; and council members, John Buchanan, Doug Everett, Susanne Rex, Ken Staton, and Janelle Walker accompanied by petitionable council members, Jennie Dawson and Wayne Raider.

The responsibilities of this group are to order caps and gowns, graduation announcements, and to supervise the long, tedious hours of work involved in planning the annual Senior Dinner Party. All of these activities are accomplished with the aid of Sponsor, Dan Carmichael.

The Candelabrum Committee conducts the age-old, traditional ceremony at the Senior Dinner Party and at Commencement exercises.

The Senior Dinner Party was one of many tasks accomplished by the Seniors of 1983. Following tradition, the dinner was held at Ulen Country Club.

Greeting seniors who entered were members of the Candelabrum Committee, who later gave the first of two yearly presentations. Todd Meece delivered a short opening speech and Kelly Kenyon gave the invocation. After dinner the tables were moved and the entertainment began.

The evening was started when "hosts' Kevin Clawson and Jay Heflin gave their rendition of a "Telethon for Senioritis" During their spectacular performance various people were called upon to help them in this task. Becki Adkins read the senior class essay which she wrote; then Jean Coons sang for the senior group who gave her unanimous appreciation with a standing ovation. Meanwhile, Kevin and Jay repeatedly checked with "phone girls!" Kim Anderson, Maria Dye, Debbie Bean, and Stephanie Peabody to get the latest report on money received for the Telethon. Then came the "Suzi Cools" depicting the first day of school for the average senior girl. Symptoms of senioritis continued getting worse; to relieve the pain, "Tips from Tots," featuring such famous personalities as Rick Hootman and Beth Herr, was filmed at Perry Worth to represent the early years. The last stage of senioritis was shown by the unwillingness of a senior to tear himself away from the habit-forming video games. The announcement of the Telethon's total gross income brought the 1982 Senior Dinner Party to a successful close.

This year the juniors had the honor of winning the float competition at Homecoming. Their hard work and persistence in keeping to their work paid off — unlike the seniors who found volleyball to be their top priority.

Providing an entertaining evening for the seniors was the main task of the juniors in producing the Prom. Money was raised for the production of the prom, mainly through Candy-Coke sales. Juniors greeted fans with a friendly hello and supplied delicious refreshments for one and all.

With the excitement of becoming upperclassmen along come the privileges of finally being able to escape from the cafeteria for lunch, being understudies to a wonderful, loving staff and having a wider choice of classes to be scheduled.

Juniors joined in with the other classes and continued to be active in school organizations. Athletics hold the interests of many members of the Class of '84 — with many excelling.

SPOTLIGHT

Junior Eddie Schilling is a new student at LHS, transferring from Connersville. Eddie was involved in many activities at his school in Connersville including student council, foreign language club, and a Spartan letterwinner. Although busy in many activities, Eddie managed to maintain the grades to stay on the honor roll.

Eddie's main interest in sports is basketball. His Spartan team made it to Sweet 16 last season. During the summer Eddie attended many basketball camps such as the Five Star Camp to prepare for the season. Eddie is now a starter for the Tiger varsity squad.

Eddie hopes to become more involved in school activities after the outcome of the Tiger's season.

SOPHOMORES

Kendra Morton, president; Mary Spolyar, vice-president; Cindy Barrickman, secretary, as leaders of the class, had the duty of informing their classmates of happenings. Jason Quellhorst and Kathy Burroughs, as petitionable seats, helped the officers and had special duties at Homecoming.

The Sophomores came into the school with one year of experience and found themselves more confident scholastically, emotionally, and socially. Excitement mounted with the anticipation of receiving their driver's license and looking towards the upcoming years.

This class played a key role in school spirit by participating in such activities as Math Club, Student Council, Forensic, band, and choir.

Walking into the high school on your first day of school can be one of the most frightening feelings. Wondering if you'll find your classes, survive the sudden surge of homework, and if you'll still have time to have some fun are just a few of the questions that run through your mind.

The freshmen this year did a fine job of participating in various activities and joining in to provide school spirit.

Penny Padgett, president; Lisa Barnett, vice-president, and Julie Yoder, secretary led their class in building their first float, aided in ordering their class rings and helped their peers to become a part of the LHS community. Petitionable seats, Debbie Isenhower and Missy Stapleton helped the officers in their duties. One of their jobs was to assist in blowing up helium balloons at Homecoming.

Freshmen learn that Middle School is just a part of the past and find that high school offers a broad scope of activities that cater to almost every individual's taste. New friends were made and anticipation mounts as they await becoming upperclassmen.

SPOTLIGHT

Freshman Brent VanMatre participates in the unique sport of Tai Kwan Do, which is a style of Karate. To advance in this sport, one must pass skills tests in form, fighting abilities, combinations, and breaking objects.

Brent did well in the AAU Junior Olympics, receiving a first in forms and a second in fighting. He also participated at the national contest where he received a first in the lightweight division.

After graduation Brent hopes to travel to Korea where Tai Kwan Do originated and continue his study of this unusual sport.

Sweetheart,
There are many memories in my mind and heart with you and I thank Lord Jesus for meeting someone so special like you. I know you have goals and dreams, and I hope you strive to achieve and accomplish each and I'll be there and wish I could be beside you always, sometimes I get myself into all the situations and wish I was far away from but now I share a reason to be always make me feel no matter what happens I want you to be here babe, and I will always be your person or people could that. No replace you if something
Your light and shining stars"
And I love you!!!! You're good everything you do and I'm so proud that you graduated and believe me, I'll be there to see you through it!

I love you love always

Special Education

Special Education students this year, under the instruction of Mrs. Marilyn Neese and Mrs. Carolyn Gant, engaged in numerous activities throughout the year.

The year was begun on a high note with Key Club members sponsoring a trip to Turkey Run.

Knowledge and respect of our American heritage was stressed in the fall. Students made grape jelly and tomato juice as the early Americans once did.

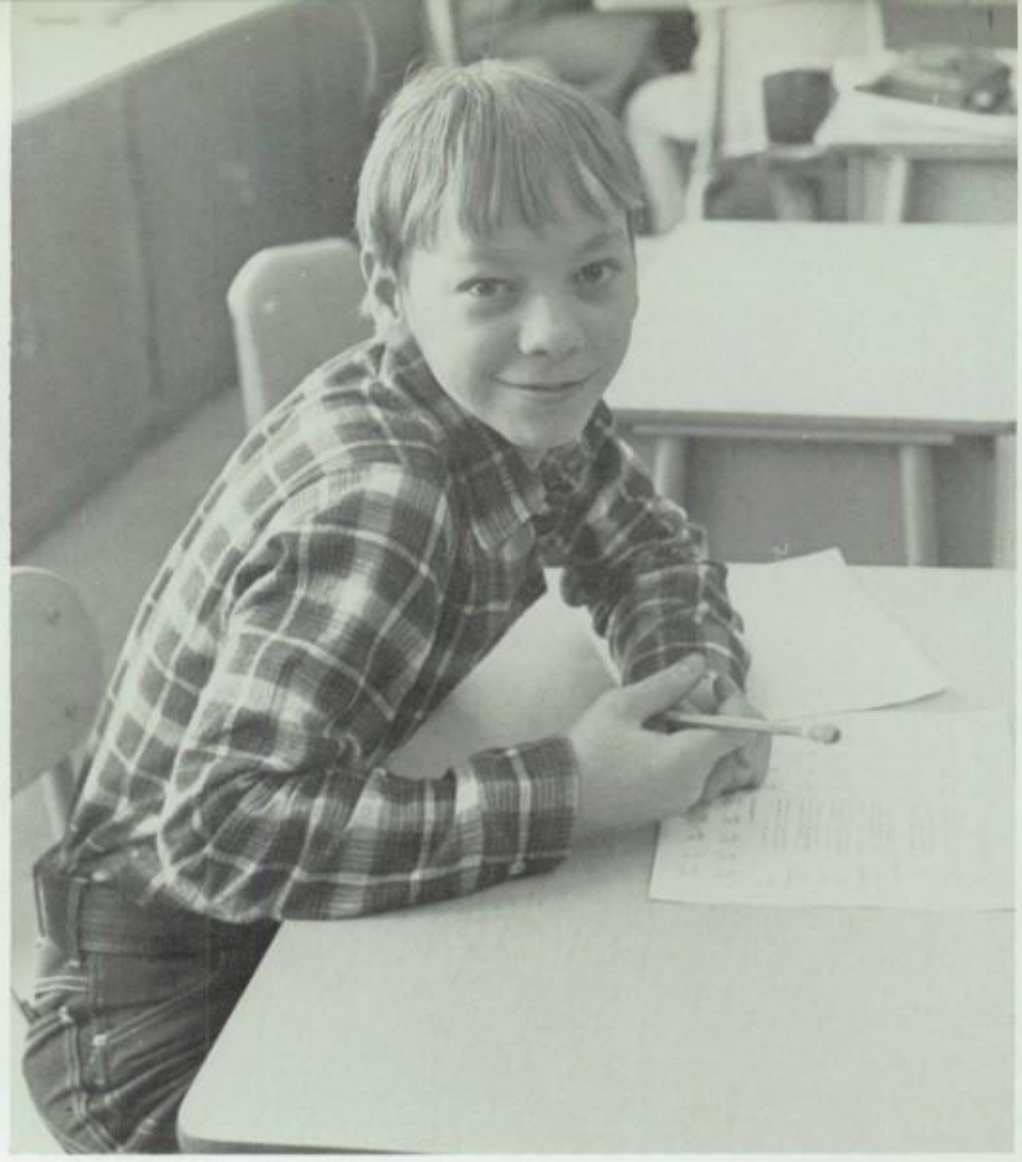
Later in the fall, the class sold candy as a means of raising money.

Excitement was prevalent as the class journeyed to the Hostess bakery just prior to Christmas. This outing, sponsored by the Kiwanis, was concluded with a visit to the Walker farm in Whitestown.

In the few weeks before Christmas break, the entire class was busy with the making of candy and cookies which were presented as gifts to the different offices and their staffs.

The class studied diligently throughout the second semester looking toward the end of the year where they went to the Eagles Nest, atop the Hyatt Hotel in Indianapolis. Here, the students dined and then toured our state government buildings downtown.

A Mother's Day luncheon was given at the end of the year to honor the Mothers and the graduating senior students.



Buddy Minor is a diligent, but happy, student. Mrs. Neese aids students Diana Taylor and Robin Eck in learning of the fifty states.

Special Education

Kim Hodges, senior, completes lessons necessary for her upcoming graduation.

"This stuffs easy!" exclaims Gene Hoffman as he finishes his math.

Cedars staff

The 1983 Cedars staff began this year under a new sponsor, Mrs. Jeannie Martin. Mrs. Martin replaced Mrs. Nancy Servies, who had put in 7 years of hard work and dedicated service to the yearbook. The staff is led by editor-in-chief Beth Herr and managing editor Janelle Walker. Their job is to oversee the total production of the book and to keep the staff working to make deadlines. Other members — April Young and Jay Heflin, advertising managers; Maria Dye, subscription editor; Betty Schirmer, Faculty editor; Elaine Benken, underclass editor and photographer; Pam Hendrickson, senior editor and photographer; Laura Lee and Tim Bewley, sports editors, and Kristie Dickerson, organization editor — worked hard to complete their sections.

The 1983 Student Council, sponsored by Mr. Roger Lochmueller, had one of its most successful years.

The members of Student Council, led by President Janelle Walker, Vice President Laura Lee, and Secretary Beth Herr, began plans last May, and met several times during the summer, to make their biggest project of the year — Homecoming.

The president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer of each class are responsible for making sure they represent their class at the monthly meeting.

School projects this year were Orientation, the I.D. discount program, movies in the cafeteria, several convocations, the organization of painting stripes and letters in the halls with the help of the Art Club, and the change in the final schedule from three straight days to three days divided by a weekend.

Donations were given to Christmas baskets for a local sorority, to the upgrading of the computer classes, and a new screen for movies in the cafeteria and lecture hall.

National Honor Society

President Doug White, Vice President Cheri Rigterink, Secretary Kelly Kenyon, and Treasurer Kerri Randel, assisted by Mr. Al Crawford and Mrs. Teresa Williams, led the 1983 National Honor Society through another year.

Juniors who rank in the top 15 percent and seniors who rank in the upper 5 percent and have a grade point average of 3.25 or better are eligible for membership.

They are then selected by members of the faculty and teaching staff on the basis of intellect and leadership, in both the classroom and in school-related activities.

Juniors were inducted last fall and the seniors this spring.

Projects this year included the introduction of a tutoring program, assisting Guidance with College Night and Career Day, and a senior luncheon this spring.

Z Club is a service organization for sophomore, junior, and senior girls sponsored by the Zonta Club of Lebanon. Z Club serves the school, provides career guidance and leadership qualities, and promotes fellowship and better understanding among all people.

Each spring, freshman girls apply to Z Club. The girls are selected on the basis of character, leadership, personality, citizenship, and scholarship. Only ten girls are selected and they do not become members until the next fall.

This year Z-Club assisted with hosting the National Convention at the Hyatt Hotel in Indianapolis. Z Club also serves the Chamber of Commerce Dinner and has an International Dinner for foreign exchange students. As a service project, Z Club girls visited nursing homes.

Pennant Staff

This year's 1982-83 Pennant newspaper has once again been distributed to students, staff members and various outside subscribers in eight monthly issues. The Lebanon Reporter prints the Pennant for a minimum charge after Production adviser Jim Maines oversees camera-ready paste-up.

The Pennant, under the direction of Mrs. Jeannie Martin, is composed of 25 students, eleven of them being second-year journalism students who serve as editors. This year's editorial staff includes Kristie Dickerson, editor-in-chief; managing editor, Mary Gill; production editor, Debbie Kinnett; news editor, Cheri Conlee; opinion editor, Gretchen Boren; feature editor, Tracey Goodnight; ad editor, Lisa Stoner; Doug Revell, sports editor; Sally Osborne, special feature editor; Chris Clingler, class editor; Jeff Wathen, art editor; Darwin Garrison, photography editor. The first-year journalism students serve as the reporting staff.

Foreign Language Club

The Math Club, also known as the Pythagorean Society, in its fifth year at Lebanon High School. Sponsor Larry Zickmund along with the rest of the members of the club concentrated on raising money for another Radio Shack computer. This was accomplished through various activities such as a bake sale, sponsoring a basketball dance, and a car wash.

The club again wound up the school year with the annual trip to Chicago. Only those members who obtained enough points were allowed to go. They visited the Planetarium and the Museum of Science and Industry.

Officers, who were elected by fellow members, include Doug White, president; Gregg Hiland, vice president; Karen Dees, secretary; Steve Kouns, treasurer.

FHA

The FHA, Future Homemakers of America, had numerous activities in which to keep busy. This year the club hosted the Fall District Meeting, which includes clubs from around the country. They also wrapped gifts for the Mental Health Association at Christmas. In January the group served food to music contest judges and staff.

This year's officers included Pam Smith, president; Angie David, vice-president; Rhonda Fisher, secretary, and Stephanie Hoffman, treasurer.

Art Club

The Art Club, sponsored by Art Teacher Pam Lochmueller, is active, not only in school activities, but also through the community. Members contributed this year to the school by designing and painting the new directional signs throughout the halls. They also painted their annual mural at Christmas time.

The active group also visited L.S. Ayres Department store to participate in an annual state art contest and exhibit, designed especially for high school students in Indiana.

Club Officers include John Deer, vice-president and Dawn Hull, secretary/treasurer.

Forensic Club

The Forensic Club is designed to help students with their work in drama and their ability to spead publicly. Through contests students work on their eye contact, vice, and dramatic stage presence. The members travel to nearby schools for competition, in various categories. The categories include extemporaneous speaking, oratory, impromtu, dramatic/humorous duo, dramatic interpetation, humorous interpertation, poetry, and broadcasting. The club also contributes to the school by sponsoring a dance and other activities to provide their needed funds. The club is sponsored by Mary Brown and led by Paula Owen, president, Debbye Maillet, vice-president, and Jennifer McClaine, secretary.

Tigerettes/Flags Twirler

This year's Auxiliary, which was made up of 37 girls, was under the new direction of Band Director Scott Robbins.

The girls were expected to do flags and dancing, instead of splitting them into the traditional groups of Flags and Tigerettes.

During marching season ten dancers were featured during the song, "Sophisticated Ladies." Dancing Performing in this number were Jenny Obremskey, Kelly Kenyon, Jessica Chesney, Tracey Hawkins, Missie Hamke, Sally Osborne, Colleen Feldt, Kerri Randel, Anita Williams, and Debbie Bean.

The Auxiliary received first place at the Star City Marching Festival over the previous state champion, Chesterton.

The captains for Auxiliary were Flags, April Young, and Lisa Burger; Tigerettes, Jenny Obremskey and Kelly Kenyon. These girls, along with help from Mrs. Amy Gillan, made up their entire routines for the season.

Baseball

Under the direction of head coach, Keith Campbell, the Tiger varsity baseball team compiled one of the best records in recent years, finishing with a record of 16-6.

The Tigers won their first seven games before losing a close one to Noblesville, 3 to 2. They finished the regular season by beating Crawfordsville, Frankfort, North Montgomery, Brownsburg, Zionsville, Western Boone, Carmel, and Chatard.

The Tigers had on their roster an amazing twelve seniors, and this experience helped them to capture their second straight sectional title. However, the Tigers were beaten in a close game against rival, Western Boone, in the first game of Regionals.

Baseball

The reserve baseball team, led by coach Dave Hedges, had a winning season this year. Several members played varsity as well as reserve. Kevin Clawson pitched for the varsity squad, while John Buchanan caught behind the plate. These two seniors were an essential part of both squads. Outstanding efforts by Marty Hieck, Sam Myers and Mark Wilson added to the team's versitility and tough play. Many of the outstanding players will return next year to fill up the varsity squad. Important wins for the team came against Noblesville, Brownsburg, Pike, Western Boone, and Zionsville. They lost close games against Brebeuf, and Lafayette. Next year's team will uphold Lebanon's quality baseball.

Tennis

The girls tennis team, under the direction of coach Roy Flanary, ended their regular season with a record of 7 wins and 5 losses. The team started off losing their first few matches but came back in the end of the season.

The team's victories were over Western Boone, North Montgomery and Ben Davis with other wins. They lost to Harrison, West Lafayette, Crawfordsville, Zionsville, and Noblesville.

Linda Everett, a senior, received a honorable mention and won second in the Sagamore conference. Cari Gidman, a sophomore, was named to the All conference team.

The girls show much promise for improvement next season with 3 seniors, 2 juniors and 6 sophomores returning.

Golf

The boys golf team under the direction of Steve Psikula had an average season. Everyone played well as a whole with some outstanding golfers. Jeff Harris, sophomore, captured second in the Sectionals with a round of 76. J.B. Belknap, freshman, with a score of 78 was named All Conference. The team consisting of younger players gained much experience with their meet play. The golf team started off winning their first two meets against a tough N. Montgomery and West Lafayette. Some other key wins came against Brownsburg, Madison Heights and Brebeuf. They lost a close match to Frankfort. They placed third in the Sagamore conference, and sent one player to regionals. Next season we should look for a great year with the team.

Mark Artman, sophomore, exhibits technique needed to acquire an accurate drive.

Randy Renolds, junior, feels that practicing with his driver will get him ready for the match.

The 1982 girls varsity track team, coached by Bill Denney, gained much experience in its thirteen meet season. Though the team lacked a large turnout, those who participated were some of Lebanon's finest. Receiving several first place awards the Tigers had trouble getting those second and third places which when figuring scores counted heavily.

A few of the strong runners were seniors Diane Quick, Delana Cooney, juniors Jenny Obremskey, Tonya Kirk, and sophomore Tammy Essex. In addition to the fine running, the team had some fine athletes in field events including Bridget Burroughs, Anita Williams, and Liz Lamer.

Under the direction of Coach Vic Jones, the 1982 track team had another great season. The Tiger tracksters were paced by some first rate runners including seniors Rob Tyre, Kevin Kirk, Rick Thompson, and Jeff Click and junior hurdler Doug White. Outstanding athletes participating in field events include Kevin Staton, Ken Staton, Brad Schrock, and David Brown with Kevin and David both setting school records.

With a majority of the team being underclassmen, much experience has been gained which should help keep the tradition of fine track teams at Lebanon for next year.

Football

The 1982 varsity football team, under the direction of head coach Steve Psikula, sparked the rise of the new "Eye of The Tiger" spirit. Compiling one of the best records in years, the Tigers finished the season with seven wins and three losses. Opening the season playing last year's champion, Hamilton Southeastern, the Tigers played a tough game leading the first half but falling off in the second half and losing 17-28. The Tigers next hosted Frankfort and easily won with a score of 28-0. Two more wins followed with the Tigers beating a tough Pike Team and beating Danville despite the rainy conditions in which the game was played. The team then suffered its second loss of the season with a defeat in a hot tempered game against Crawfordsville. Next came the Tiger's homecoming with a game against N. Montgomery. Under the theme "Surf's up for the Tigers," the football team won its first homecoming game in many years as the Tigers downed the Chargers 15-7. Lebanon then defeated Sheridan 21-0 and county rival Zionsville 27-7.

Sagamore conference member Brownsburg handed the Tigers their third loss of the season and buried all hopes of a chance in a postseason game. To end the season the varsity trounced neighboring Western Boone 28-0.

The Tiger's had six players named to the All-Conference team. This included seniors Randy Campbell, Shawn Chesney, Bryan Fields, David Lakes and Ken Staton and junior, Todd Jones. Senior Shawn Chesney was also named to the third team defense All-State.

Football

This year's freshman football team, under the direction of coach Jim Immel and coach Bill Bowen, had a record of 3 wins and 5 losses. Losing its first three out of four games, the team came back in the second half of the season two of the last four. Key wins came against Brebeuf, Crawfordsville, and Ritter. The Tigers lost two games with less than two minutes left on the clock. These losses came against Pike and Noblesville. Four promising members of the freshman team were Bruce Bowman, who did an excellent job at the guard position, Mark Cero who did most of the scoring from the halfback position, Rod Skeen also a halfback and the team's punter, and leading the team in pass receptions was Doug Caylor.

Cross Country

Coach Dave Hedges' first year as cross country coach was a building year. Junior, Joe Venezia led the cross country team as first runner, followed by senior Randy Pratt as second runner and sophomore Bob Duff as third runner. Adding to the team's depth were Eric Worrell and Jim Coomes. Jeff Hester and Norman Eavey, two promising runners were injured part of this year and will add much strength to next year's team. Senior Laura Miller represented the only girl on the cross country team.

The Tigers lost several close meets one being against Crawfordsville and another against Western Boone. The team has much potential for next season with five of the six runners returning.

Senior Doug Everett and junior Barry Smith led the team as the number one doubles team. Finishing off the varsity squad were junior Marty Heick and sophomore Todd Byrd. With several returning to next year's team Coach Flanary believes it will be one of the team's best seasons in recent years.

The reserve tennis team had a record of nine wins, three losses and one tie. Several promising players added to the team's strength. Freshman Jim Garrard and Brent Keller led the team. Garrard as a freshman went to sections this year and will add to the depth of next year's team.

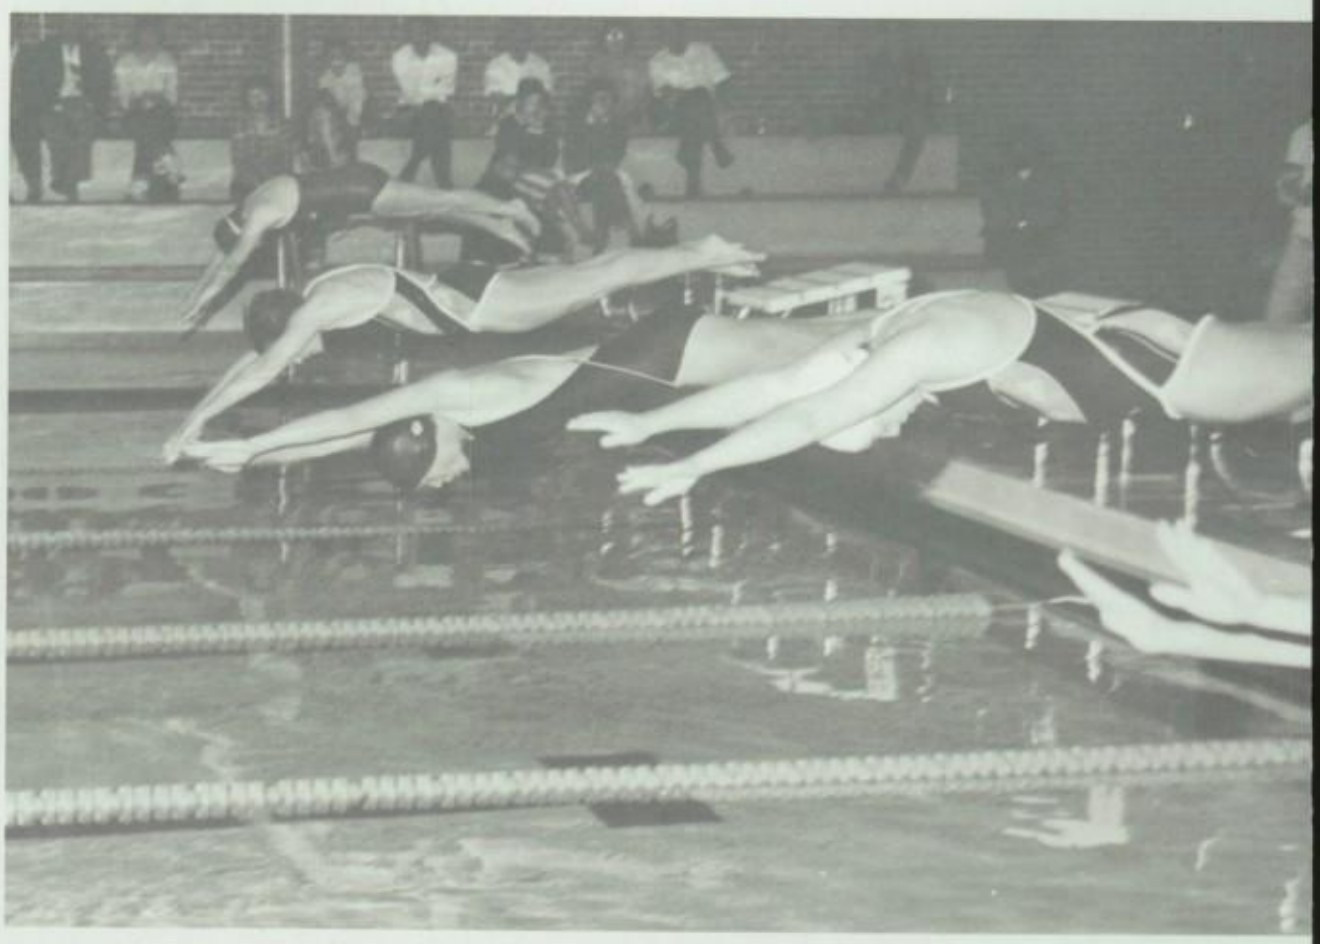
Swimming



The girls varsity swim team, under the direction of head coach Amy Gillan, ended the season with a record of four wins and eleven losses. The team finished seventh in Sectionals and fifth in the Sagamore Conference. Swimming short-handed most of the year due mainly to illness, the Tigers look forward to a bright season next year.

Jenny Obremskey, captain of the team, placed second in the 50 freestyle in Sectionals, which qualified her for the State Meet in Indianapolis at the new Natatorium. Jenny ended an excellent high school swimming career, holding seven out of the 11 school swimming records.

The Lebanon Varsity team, coached by Jim Rosenstihl, dashed out of the gates by winning fourteen of their first eighteen games. Senior David Wright led the tigers by pounding home shots from all ranges. Junior Scott Wood pulled down the rebounds for the tigers. Scott also helped out by grabbing the rebound on the offensive board and putting it back up for the second shot. Eddie Schilling handled the ball and set up the plays, occasionally taking the outside shot to score. Sophomore Joe Klingler did a fantastic job by helping set plays, take the outside shot for two, and played a big role with his tough defensive play. The tiger players off the bench, senior Doug Revell, junior Mark Starkey, senior Randy Cambell, and sophomore Steve Wallace all helped the team effort. Oeverall the tigers are looking forward to much post season play.

The Sagamore champs won the sectional by defeating Western Boone and Zionsville. Several key plays came from our defense to help the team clinch the sectionals. Senior David Wright, junior Scott Wood and sophomore Steve Wallace led the scoring and rebounding. Two exciting games were played by the tigers to add the regional title to their victories. In the first game a clutch shot in the last six seconds by junior Scott Wood won the game and sent Plainfield to defeat. North Montgomery also fell to the tigers shooting. The tigers played Anderson in semi-state play. A close and exciting game the tigers lost in the last seconds. Congratulations to the tigers Sectional, Regional, and Sagamore champions.

Coach Ken Recher led the freshman team to an excellent season this year, winning 11 of their first 13. The freshman team gained momentum by rolling through Ben Davis, Sheridan, and Zionsville. They also attacked Western Boone, North Mont, and Kokomo. The strength off of the bench added a depth to the freshman team that coach Recher has been looking for and trying to develop in players headed for Varsity and Reserve play.

Basketball

"GBB is coming" was the theme of last year's girls basketball program. This year GBB was back. After winning the first sectional ever last year, the girls had a bright outlook for the season. The Lady Tigers began the season with a loss to a good Zionsville team. The Tigers won the next three games before losing to sagomore conference member, Brownsburg. Grenncastle and Crawfordsville were the Tigers next two victims. Then came the team's next loss to an excellent Brebeuf team.

After the Christmas break, the Lady Tigers hosted Harrison girls and finaly defeated them in an overtime game. The Tigers lost only two of the remaining eight games, to Western Boone and Northwest.

Entering the sectionals, Lebanon drew North Putnam. After easily defeating the North Putnam crew, Lebanon faced Western Boone. In this game the Lebanon girls were not able to overcome the fouls against them and lost a close game 36-32. The final record of the year was 13 wins and 5 losses. The Tigers were led in scoring by senior Laura Lee, senior Kim Anderson, and sophomore Mary Spolyar.

Coach John Goodwin will lose several strong seniors this year including Diane Smith, Jenny Obremskey, Meshiel Newman, Kristie Dickerson, Kim Anderson, and Laura Lee.

This year's varsity wrestling team, under the direction of head coach Vic Jones and coach Jeff Burdine, ended its dual meet season with a record of 7 wins, 2 losses, and 1 tie. The Tigers finished second in the sagamore conference and captured the IHSAA sectional and regional titles. Winners of the sectionals were Dale Klingler at 119 lbs., Shane Faucett at 126 lbs., Brian King at 132 lbs., and Scott Pell at 185 lbs. Eight other Tiger matmen advanced to the regionals at Crawfordsville.

The regional victory was definitely a team effort as the tigers had only one winner, Brian King. David Hawkins, Ken Proctor, and Dale Klingler finished second and moved on to the semi-state. Finishing third at the regional were wrestlers Shane Faucett, Mike Beard, and Scott Pell.

The Tigers will lose a strong group of seniors including Klingler, Faucett, King, Ron Chapman, Jeff Rodgers, and Don Marvin.

Varsity Cheerleaders — Sheryl Sanders, Lisa Linton, Brenda Mansholt, Heather Essex, Becki Adkins

Cheerleading

The LHS cheerleaders are sponsored by Peggy Hulse. Many hours of hard work are put in by this lady to ensure a great group of LHS cheerleaders.

During the summer, the girls practiced and prepared themselves for camp and came home with many honors. The varsity and freshman squads won the overall Award of Excellence in each of their divisions. Lebanon cheerleaders also brought home the spirit stick. The varsity and reserve squads combined as one and competed in the Indiana State Fair Cheerleading Contest and came home with a seventh place trophy.

This year the cheerleaders had a little easier job of promoting school spirit as the LHS student body seemed to possess more spirit than in recent years.

The cheerleaders sold ribbons at football games and "I Love the Tigers" buttons at basketball games to boost the spirit of the community.

Serving as "Clete" this year was junior Nan Johnson during the football season and Kevin Clawson during the basketball season.

Junior, Lisa Linton fights the cold football weather with a cup of hot chocolate.

Senior, Kevin Clawson, as "Clete", entertains the crowd at an LHS varsity basketball game.

LHS administration and management

Assuming the administrative duties of principal again this year, Mr. Victor Combs found his job demanding as well as rewarding.

Despite his many pressing duties, Mr. Combs made the students his main concern. He always had time for communicating with both students and faculty.

Full of endless enthusiasm for his work, Mr. Combs has gained the appreciation and praise of every student.

To relieve the principal of his countless duties were assistant principals, Mr. Will Pullins and Mr. Roger Lochmueller. These two shared responsibilities for the great amount of requirements of high school students. They handled the activities and discipline of students, and any problems that occurred throughout the school year.

The guidance department was responsible for arranging tests, organizing College and Career Day, orienting incoming freshmen, and handling the multiude of schedules, enrollment cards, and recommendation forms.

Mrs. Marilyn Haughton arranged the itinerary of Mr. Pullins and Mr. Lochmueller. She also typed the daily announcements.

Helping in the guidance office was Mrs. Donna McConnaha. She assisted the counselors with students record and scheduling.

Janie Reynolds' responsibilities in the attendance office included signing people in and out of the building and receiving numerous phone calls relating to students' attendance.

Mrs. Betty Whitlatch's main responsibility was correlating Mr. Combs' activities. She ran the bookstore and collected book rental fees from students.

English Department

While the areas of grammar, vocabulary, spelling, and literature were all stressed equally in the English Department this year, several specific goals were set by the faculty. Teachers emphasized the importance of composing thoughts and organizing ideas. Writing techniques, paragraph development, and research paper writing were only a few of the many topics students studied during the year in their English classes.

An interest in reading is something with which students experience substantial trouble. Everyone thinks reading is such a chore. For years, teachers have tried to attract the interest of pupils to English Literature.

English is essential for those who are planning to attend college. Seniors prepare themselves for the future by increasing their knowledge in this field.

Social Studies Department

Mrs. Williams jams down while grading papers.

Social Studies places emphasis on understanding man in relation to his society and surroundings in the past, present, and future.

Students learned about foreign nations as well as studying the history of their own country. World current events are being stressed so that students will better understand and comprehend what is happening around the world. Social Studies teachers try each year to broaden students' knowledge of today's world by requiring current affairs journals.

Relationships of the human race were dealt with more thoroughly. Students get a basic understanding of themselves and of the world they find themselves in today.

Math Department

Math instructors taught students efficient and beneficial methods in each of their classes. Every person learned to apply his math problems to practical purposes. If a student shows enthusiasm for math and enjoys it, he seems to excel in this area.

Fundamental algebraic concepts are the main point stressed in the algebra courses. Students learn how to organize ideas and figure out story problems.

The computer has become a major interest to students throughout the school. A lack of classes provided in computer programming, because of teacher time and terminal availability, has upset many interested students who cannot fit this popular course into their already full schedules.

College bound students find that math is especially important as a ladder to more advanced course of study.

Business Department

Mr. Carmichael measures April Young for cap and gown.

A variety of business courses is provided for students interested in finding employment after finishing their high school education. The business department strove to train the students efficiently and stressed attendance.

Bookkeepers learned the fundamentals of accounting, neatness, accuracy, and businesslike manners. Emphasis was placed on banking procedures and expenditure records.

Future secretaries were trained in typing skills and shorthand. Typists learned where the keys were and models of business forms. Stenography students were introduced to the structures of words and worked on taking dictation.

COE provided on-the-job training to interested students. This co-op program has proven worthwhile to both employers and workers.

General business, business math, and office machines were also offered to the students.

Science and Foreign Language Departments

The Science Department maintained that theories are formulated from the observed phenomena and calculations of research. Emphasis was placed on independent study in projects and laboratory investigation.

Courses in physics and chemistry provided a foundation for students interested in gaining knowledge of the more advanced philosophies of science.

In addition biology, earth science, and general science were offered to the students. These subjects dealt with plant and animal life, the earth and its materials, and basic laboratory experiments.

Realizing the need for foreign languages in our ever-changing world, the Language Department gave its best effort to assist students in becoming fluent in French, Spanish, and German.

Students understand now that a foreign language is required to enter most colleges.

Grammar, culture, customs, values, and beliefs of the French and the Spanish peoples were stressed. German students learned the basics in communication, grammar, and culture.

Special Resource

The Special Resources area is made up of various skilled personnel. The WECEP and special education facilities are headed by Mrs. Brown, Mr. Reed, and Mrs. Neese, respectively. They work diligently throughout the year, teaching the basic studies in the classroom and the many aspects of life. An important part of special education is Carolyn Gant, who helps out in every way she can.

The speech and hearing department is in the capable hands of Mrs. Million and Mrs. Bramblett, who both test and tutor students.

Mrs. Westfall is an essential woman who keeps the library running smoothly and effectively for the school. She often helps students in finding books, writing book reports and looking at maps.

Mrs. Cassell runs the clinic with expertise and enthusiasm. She is kept busy keeping student files complete and ready for use.

Classes for personal growth

Extensive participation and hard work in music and art offer greatly enriching experiences for those enrolled in both departments.

Displaying their talent and intense interest, music students presented the musical, "Wizard of Oz" and a mid-winter concert.

Development of individual skills was the major goal of gym classes. P.E. students were kept physically fit and exercised daily. Teachers stressed listening and following directions throughout the year to protect students from injury.

Substance Abuse classes were taught the dangers of drugs and their effects on people. Students learned all about drugs and how they can harm the body physically and emotionally.

Mr. James Rosenstihl took on the problems of scheduling games, directing ticket sales, purchasing new equipment, and contracting officials. Mr.Rosenstihl also served as the head varsity basketball coach and a drivers education instructor.

Assisting Mr. Rosenstihl this year was Mrs. Marilyn Davis, who helped with ticket sales, organized records, and set up appointments.

With a great number of students to feed, cooks report to school early in the morning to prepare nutritious meals for the starving students. The cooks contributed their talents by providing the scheduled lunch for several alternative meals. For special occasions they prepared seasonal dinners. Their duties also included keeping the kitchen spotless and sanitary at all times.

Custodial tasks ranged from cleaning rooms and maintaining a comfortable temperature to raising the flag each morning and replacing lights. Upkeep of athletic and parking facilities was also maintained.

Home Ec and Industrial Arts

Home Economics students took delight in preparing delicious meals and creating fashionable apparel. These future homemakers (both male and female) mastered techniques which will be valuable throughout their lives. Food and nutrition were emphasized.

Supervisors of the Home Ec Department taught students the importance of getting along with others, the management of a home and family, how to become a better consumer, and many other related topics associated with surviving in today's world.

To give students better training for individual careers after graduation, the INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT stressed the significance of acquiring knowledge of basic techniques in power mechanics, machine shop, printing, woodworking, drafting, and photography.

Power mechanics classes learned all aspects of the automobile. This encouraged young mechanics. Machine shop provided students with an insight of basic dexterious skills. Producing most forms and programs for the school and corporation kept printing classes busy. Woodship pupils created works of art while mechanical drawing classes strove for the primary goal of precise drafts. More emphasis was placed in taking pictures using artificial lighting for future photographers.

Mrs. Zickmund discusses the importance of nutrition to the class.

Charles R. Hemmerle, Sr. will be long remembered. His timely death occurred June 20, 1982, at age 61. This dedication was the industrial arts teacher at LHS for the past 36 years. He was respected and admired by both his students and peers. A keen sense of humor was interjected into his classroom things. Mr. Hemmerle was highly skilled in many fields always improving techniques in his craft and was an inspiration to all.

Fishing, hunting, and camping were a few of his many outdoor interests. Mr. Hemmerle was devoted to his family and a dedicated, active member of St. Alphonsus Catholic Church in Zionsville. Among the organizations that he was involved in were the Indiana State Teachers Association, the Classroom Teachers Association, the National Education Association, and the American Legion.

Mr. Hemmerle was educated in Terre Haute where he graduated from Wiley High School and Indiana State University where he received his Bachelor's and Master's Degrees.

Following college, a teaching career began in Clinton and in Chicago in the civilian rehabilitation program. During World War II, he entered the U.S. Navy.

Continuing the teaching career after military service, he taught a year at Petersburg before coming to Lebanon.

Mr. Hemmerle will be missed by all of us at Lebanon High School; and we will always keep in mind all of the dedication and hard work that he contributed to our school throughout his many years at LHS.

The Wizard of Oz

Dorothy walked on the yellow brick road amid witches and munchkins, as the entire LHS Music Department coordinated its efforts to produce "The Wizard of Oz."

For the 1983 musical, Choral Director Jaci Taylor chose an outstanding group of student actors and added some unusual special effects to mark this year's production as one of Lebanon's best.

The starring role of Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz" was shared by seniors Jean Coons and Heather Banner who, with their previous performing experience, contributed to the professionalism on stage.

Seniors brought humor and sensitivity to the parts of the scarecrow, Doug Everett; Tin Man, Todd Meece, and the Cowardly Lion, John Buchanan. Other senior cast members in major roles included Lisa Burger as Aunt Em, Scott Hess as Uncle Henry, and Becki Adkins as the first witch.

Both juniors and sophomores were also well represented on stage. Junior cast members included Steve Kaser, Sheryl Sanders, Brent Ross, Charlene Lasley, and Jessica Chesney. Sophomore lead performers were Susan Tanselle, Jeff Moster, Jennie Hall, Jeff Pedersen and Greg Finke. The 40 Munchkins were played by elementary and Middle School students. The musical also involved a tremendous amount of work and participation "behind the scenes" from many student and faculty members.

Miss Taylor and the entire "Wizard of Oz" cast and crew turned "just another weekend" into one of magic on the LHS stage.

- David -

Well I don't believe it, I got to sign your yearbook once again. I am glad that we made it another "year". Lets try and put 100 years on what we have. One of these days we will make it. I really do hope that you mean what you said earlier this evening. (you said that you were done looking around) And that you are going to stay with me. I am finding it very difficult ~~to~~ in writing this. All that I can say is that I will try my best to not gripe at you. You're old enough to take care of yourself without me telling you how too, aren't ya? Well Honey Dew & Love Bird - I really am at a loss of words and I think that this will say it all - I Love You Dearly. We were definitely made for each other. That is why we never want to let go. Once again, Congratulations on graduating and I love you.

Yours Always.
Suzanne

And thats what counts - if we both love each other and are honest and true to each other. Lets give our relationship anything that it needs to make it work.

Belinda Kay Bailey

Belinda Bailey, sister of LHS Attendance Clerk Janie Reynolds, died February 17, 1983, one day after the Cedars Staff had sent in their final pages. Although this particular space is in the last of the book, Belinda will always be first in our hearts at LHS.

Seniors remember the countless hours that Belinda voluntarily contributed to their class during Powder Puff, Candy Coke sessions, and prom time. Many staff members remember her diligence while she worked at LHS.

Those of us who knew her well are aware of the enormous amount of time and effort that she gave to this school. Those of you who did not know her missed someone very special.

Another yearbook is finished along with another year. This book was produced to remind us of the times from the past. The 1983 Cedars staff spent many hours working together. Many times have we depended on each other to help pull us through. Things could get tense and patience often wore thin, but all it took was one wisecrack from our staff of comedians to ease the situation.

I've been lucky to have a staff that was 110 percent behind me — always! We had a job to do, and I could never thank each one enough for his/her support and dedication. We have presented to you a yearbook with more student photography than in previous years and have tried to write copy to make the reader stop and think.

Not only was the staff enthusiastic, but also our advisor, Jeannie Martin. She provided the word of encouragement or comfort that was so often needed. Mrs. Martin was the spark that gave us the incentive to not settle for anything less than our top goals. To you, Jeannie Martin, we extend our thanks.

The staff owes many thanks to our understudies. The 1983 editors wish them the best of luck on next year's book. Mr. Dave Orr and Mr. Jim Maines gave us humor and help that were both greatly appreciated; and Mrs. Pam Lochmueller was also generous with her time. Thanks also to Bill Cripe, our photographer.

And let us not forget our Josten Advisor, Dick Maurer, deemed this year as "Fifth Hour Mauer." Thanks, Dick, for your occasional visits. There is also one special group I'd like to thank — my friends. They withstood my many moods and were always anxious to share in my excitement, especially at the first deadline.

Supporting one another in goals and interests is what high school is all about. If things seem dim and your efforts fruitless, stop and consider all you have. That special effort on someone's part, when you least expect it, it's always there.
